

Bridges and Blue Water Baltimore Partner for Project Cleanstream 2012

April 14, 2012

On Saturday, April 14, 80+ members of the Bridges community volunteered their morning to Project Cleanstream, a state-wide effort to preserve the Greater Chesapeake Bay. For the third year, Bridges focused its clean-up efforts on the green spaces and waterways of Armistead Gardens in East Baltimore. Blue Water Baltimore coordinated the clean-up and helped to make the day a great success for all involved.

The beautiful stream we are trying to protect.

The group starts the day with a brief orientation on clean-up activities.

Volunteers end the day with a pizza lunch.

Mentors, students, and parents picking up trash along the stream.

The group pauses for a photo after a hard day of work.