

Spring After School Program Serves 34 Students

February 2013-May 2013

Three years ago, Bridges expanded its winter after school program into the spring months. This spring, that program provided 34 Bridges fourth and fifth grade students with weekly after school sessions facilitated by 21 high school volunteers from the St. Paul's Schools. Each 90 minute session included opportunities for sports and activities, a group read from a popular children's book, and one-on-one homework help. Below, a few snapshots of the after school experience.

A group of volunteers participate in a goal setting activity during a volunteer training session.

Students Keon and Davon work with volunteers, Nikki and Jonas, to solve a problem.

Fifth grader Malika launches a ball for her team during a game of kickball.

Emma helps fourth grader Tionna to solve a reading comprehension problem.